The Ideal Alternative to Tiles

Bruynzeel decorative cladding has the aesthetically pleasing appearance and wipe-clean practicality of tiles with the added advantage of being very simple and very quick to install.

The simplicity of installation provides the advantage of not having to use highly skilled labour, and providing the background is flat the cladding can be adhered directly to the wall. Decorative cladding can give a cost saving of up to 50% on conventional tiling.

To ensure a waterproof seal, an approved silicon sealant should be used on the joints between lead and trailing edge, where it will be effective without being visible. If preferred, a sealant can be used instead of profiles to finish corners.

The 1-2-3 System

A Flush Effect

No infills are used, the different panels are interlocked into one another. This creates a flush effect on the wall. For ceilings it is advised to use either an infill or a channel infill.

An Infill

The infill is smaller than the channel infill and both are available in the silver. The infills can be used between each panel or e.g. between every two or three panels. The infill lies on top of the panel and offers an outstanding decorative effect. The available colours match with all the colours and designs in the Bruynzeel cladding range.

A Channel Infill

The channel infill is wider than the infill and creates more distance between two channels. It is ideal for ceilings but can be used on walls as well. For ceilings we recommend one infill between every panel. The channel infill lies between the panels whereas the infill lies more on top of the panels. Again, it is available in silver and can be used between each panel or e.g. between every two or three panels.
